

Spotify● This article is more than 11 years old

Spotify acquires music data firm The Echo Nest

The Echo Nest uses a database of more than 30m songs to provide music recommendation, audio fingerprinting, and other services

📷 Spotify has acquired The Echo Nest. Photograph: Dado Ruvic/Reuters Photograph: DADO RUVIC/REUTERS

Alex Hern

Thu 6 Mar 2014 11.28 EST

Music streaming service Spotify has announced that it will acquire The Echo Nest, a Massachusetts-based music data firm, for an undisclosed sum.

The Echo Nest's core product is a database of the characteristics of 30m songs, put together automatically through a mixture of techniques.

Never see this box again

Sign in now (it takes 30 seconds) to carry on reading

Sign in with Google

Sign in with Apple

or

Sign in with email

By proceeding, you agree to our terms and conditions. For information about how we use your data, see our privacy policy.

Not signed in before? Create a free account

Most viewed